Welcome to the nation’s premiere death care education e-newsletter, dedicated to providing funeral service professionals with a lifetime of learning, news, and insight into transformational education.

From President Lechner:

As we launch into the New Year, this is a time of fresh beginnings—both for the college and a new cohort of students (the Spring 2020 class), who we welcomed to campus this past Monday, January 7. It is always inspiring to see their energy and enthusiasm as they start out on this new educational and career path. They may start the term with a tinge of anxiety, but they will soon adapt and settle into their studies, drawn by their eagerness to learn.

I also want to share the pride I have in this institution, as this year has been a time of tremendous success for CCMS. As I think back on what we achieved throughout 2018, I’m especially proud of new partnerships such as our agreement with Terra State Community College that allows students to earn an Associate of Arts degree with a pathway in mortuary science. Students in the cohort can complete their first two years of their education online, providing convenience and a cost-savings.

Another major initiative is our collaboration with Marion University to offer a 20% discount to CCMS alums in any of their thanatology courses. This agreement benefits not only our alumni, but also our profession by balancing continuing education with cost savings. And, it adheres to our mission of establishing an educational foundation on which our students and alumni can build a lifetime of learning as death care professionals.

For CCMS, such innovative and inspired thinking will extend into the New Year – and beyond. Our online and in-person continuing education program continues to expand, with timely topics offered throughout the year. We also will grow our InSight Certified Celebrant™ training sessions, serving both current students and working professionals.

Perhaps most exciting is the anticipated ground-breaking this spring for our Educational Cremation Center. As we finalize designs and schedule construction, one exciting aspect we’ve included is the opportunity for our graduates and friends to be part of this innovative, state-of-the-art building. From naming rights for the labs, classrooms and other spaces to a pathway featuring memorial and celebratory bricks (see page 4 for more information), there are many ways for you to be involved, to lend your support to a building which will surely take us boldly into the future. We will soon share details, and of course feel free to contact me if you’d like more information on how you can be part of this cutting-edge enterprise.

Please join with us as we make 2019 our best year yet!

Students Give Back Through Service Projects

What do pancakes, giving blood and dropping off gently used clothing have in common? All are ways that CCMS students gave back during fall term supporting the community and, in some cases, fellow students.

From "Pancakes with a Purpose" to the Diversity Matters Club’s drive for used clothing and non-perishable food items and toiletries, from rolling up their sleeves for the Hoxworth blood drive, such events help connect students to the community. In fact, community service is part of the college’s mission and philosophy: as part of a sound education and learning environment, students learn to “function with distinction within their chosen profession and within the community.”

They are also a way to build the sense of “community” within the student body, as the students serve together. One event also benefited students who needed professional clothing for their apprenticeships. As shown in the photo, such activities are typically full of fun as well as service.

In Memory: Benney L. Haller

Benney Lee Haller, 74, died peacefully at home in Chillicothe, Ohio, on January 1, 2019. He was a graduate of Mendon Union High School, Class of 1962. Upon graduating from the Cincinnati College of Mortuary Science in 1966, he managed funeral homes in Coshocton and Canton, OH.

In addition to his wife Peg, Benney is survived by their four children: Michael (Carol) Haller, Dr. Patricia Haller (Bradley Smith), Nettina “Tina” Haller, and Matthew (Jill) Haller, all of Chillicothe; grandchildren: Andrea, Benjamin, Nick and Daniel Haller, Bradyn Smith, and Meryl and Vincent Haller; many nieces, nephews, cousins and special friends. He was predeceased by his parents; step-dad Robert Vogelgesang; a brother H. Timothy; and a sister Terryanne. Both of Benney’s sons, Michael and Matthew, are graduates of CCMS; Michael in 1990 and Matthew in 1997.

CCMS President and CEO Jack Lechner noted that when we experience the death of one of our own death care professionals, it may cause us to ponder how much of an impact our life has had on others. He states, “It was easy to see by the outpouring of support, people standing in line for up to three hours to pay their respect to the Haller family, the tremendous impact this funeral director had on his community.”

Lechner. “The students work hard during their 16 months on campus to earn a highly coveted regionally and professionally accredited Bachelor of Mortuary Science degree and AAS, establishing a firm educational foundation on which to build a lifetime of learning in the death care profession.”

He adds, “I continue to be amazed by these mature, professional, intelligent, compassionate, and dedicated young professionals that I’m privileged to see every day at CCMS,” Lechner said. “Many of these students showed a true commitment to their studies, earning high academic honors. In fact, 28 of our 50 newest colleagues graduated with a GPA above 3.5 and 8 earned a perfect 4.0!”
A path of engraved bricks will serve as the entryway for the college's new Educational Cremation Center, linking the current building to the state-of-the-art learning facility. The path connects the past to our future — a way to salute the past, preserve the present and ignite the future.

Commemorative bricks are a great way to honor a significant individual – such as celebrating your year of graduation, recognizing a favorite teacher, or to show your gratitude to someone who has made a difference in your life. It's a perfect way to create a legacy or to acknowledge someone. The $100 cost includes the brick and 3 lines of permanent engraving; other sizes of bricks and memorialization are available at extra cost. The brick purchase is tax deductible and all proceeds support the Cincinnati College of Mortuary Science.

Did you know….

• CCMS has produced 12 National Funeral Directors Association (NFDA) presidents, a legacy of leadership that is unrivaled

• CCMS students and faculty perform more than 500 embalmings every year? The high volume of procedures – which includes embalmings as well as minor and major restorations, cosmetics, cremations and transfers – provides our students a unique level of hands-on practice.
CCMS is unique in that it receives no state or federal funding, outside of the financial aid our students receive for tuition, for its operation. As a result, CCMS heavily relies on support from our alumni, private individuals, corporate partners and members of the Cincinnati Foundation for Mortuary Education. Such generous and continual support is in large part why we have remained successful for well over a century.

Giving to CCMS can be done either directly or through ways that can provide tax benefits and even income to the donor, such as a gift through your will, an IRA rollover or other retirement asset, designation gifts, charitable gift annuity or gifts of stocks and bonds. Please contact us at (513) 761-2020 or email support@ccms.edu to discuss which giving options are most beneficial to you and to the college.
