Message from the President
CCMS President & CEO Jack E. Lechner, Jr.

Greetings,

I want to start the new year by expressing my appreciation to faculty, staff, Board members and volunteers for the all the hard work that they did during the 2022 calendar year. It was a year filled with much change, many accomplishments, and many successes. Here are a few:

- Broke ground on our construction of the new Educational Cremation Center, realigned our parking lots and prepared for demolition in January and construction thereafter
- Graduated 14 students in the 2022 spring semester and 55 in the 2022 fall semester
- Successfully completed a self-study and site visit with ABFSE, which resulted in a seven-year accreditation reaffirmation
- Realigned our academic calendar with 14-week terms which brought consistency to our academic schedule
- Added a Technology in Funeral Service course
- Reconfigured the previous library into a full service Learning Resources Center, and hired a new Director of Learning Resources and Student Services
- Relocated our merchandising room and aligned it with the ability to recruit students through Admissions
- Hired a new admissions director, faculty member, director of professional education, and administrative coordinator
- Significantly increased our continuing education programs
- Transitioned to a new IT services provider and will continue to enhance IT services while containing costs
- Reinvigorated our partnership with the Ohio Funeral Directors Association and co-sponsored a Job Fair to connect students to employers

This list demonstrates just some of the great achievements that are occurring. Many others have been completed and are underway. All this great work could not have been done without the commitment of the entire CCMS family.

I also want to inform you of some changes that will take effect in 2023:

- Todd Van Beck has joined CCMS to serve as the Program Director and Director of Continuing Education. Todd’s vast wealth of knowledge and experience certainly afford us with the skillset to provide leadership to the mortuary science program and I am looking forward to his work in this role.
- With the number of projects currently underway, Toby Day has transitioned to full-time administration and part-time teaching. Toby will continue to teach cremation related courses as needed, and serve as Director of Business Services and Educational Cremation Center. In this role among other things, Toby will take responsibility for human resources functions. In addition, he will manage the ECC lab.
- Jerome Webster has transitioned from Interim Dean to Dean of the College. Jerome has agreed to serve the college for another year, and we look forward to working with him in his role.

On behalf of the Board of Trustees, let me extend my best wishes to you for a the healthiest and happiest new year. May 2023 bring us peace and prosperity!

Very Respectfully,

President and CEO

40 Ideas to Improve Funeral Service Quality

The first in an occasional series

by Todd Van Beck

All of us who are called to this profession strive every day to serve our families, employees - everyone we come in contact with - as respectfully, sympathetically, thoughtfully and yes professionally as we possibly can. Here are a few ideas to help improve the quality of your service. I'll have other more specific ideas on how to improve on other areas in the coming months, so stay tuned.

1. AWARDS/PLAQUES - Compile all company awards and individual plaques, etc., and arrange them on a prominent wall in the funeral home for better exposure and effect.

2. DONATION BOX - Have a donation box for people to drop off clothing and/or canned food—goods that the funeral home will periodically deliver to the appropriate shelters or charities.

3. MEALS ON WHEELS - Sponsor Meals on Wheels once a month or sponsor meals at a food kitchen periodically.

4. PRACTICAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM - Set up a program for widows, widowers and bereaved families as part of the after-care program where information is presented on how to live alone or in changing circumstances, cooking meals, banking, cleaning, laundry, household management, etc.

5. PHONE CARDS - Give “phone me” certificates, with the funeral home logo on them, to families so they can contact out-of-town relatives to inform them of death and/or funeral arrangements.

6. CHILDREN’S PLAY AREA - Install a playground set on funeral home property for children’s use during visitation times.

7. JUMP START ACKNOWLEDGEMENT - Enclose postage for the first 20 pieces of acknowledgement stationery.

8. BOOKMARKS - Provide good quality leather or cloth bookmarks, with the funeral home logo on them, with the register book and paper products.

9. HOORAY FOR HOLLYWOOD! - Sponsor a movie night once a month at a shelter, residence hall, senior citizen center, etc. Include sodas and popcorn.

10. FEED THE SCOUTS - Find out the dates of Scout meetings in your town and, every quarter, send pizzas over to feed the kids.

11. CLEAN CAR PROGRAM - Buy car wash tickets in books of 3 – 5 and give to families at the time of arrangement. They can have their cars washed so they are clean for the procession. Have the carwash validate used tickets so they can’t be reused.

12. PALLBEARERS CREATIVITY - Offer eight shoulder-carrying pallbearers. Families can choose this option to give more class to the funeral. This is dignity not seen much today.

13. VETERAN’S NAME BOARD - Set up a name board under the funeral home’s flag when a veteran dies. List all military service information. Take a picture for the family.

14. CRAYONS - Keep a supply of crayons and inexpensive coloring books for children’s use during calling hours. Also, have a storybook available.

15. ETHNIC CONSIDERATIONS - Have refreshments and foods available for special groups of people. Example: for Italian families, have Italian pastries and espresso coffee; for German families, have sliced sausages and different breads, etc.

16. MINTS/CANDY - Have a dish of mints or candy in each room.

Continued >>
17. SENIOR TRANSPORTATION - Pick up seniors at nursing centers for visitation.
18. FAMILY TRANSPORTATION - Pick up the family for visitation time.
19. FOOD AT HOME - Send a fruit basket or basket of coffees, teas and biscuits to each family who has just completed arrangements. This expresses concern and thanks them for placing their trust in the funeral home.
20. PAPER - Have different cards and folders available for different ethnic groups.
21. FEED AT THE FUNERAL HOME - Cater in for the family if they are going to stay over the supper hour.
22. MOURNING BADGES - Provide black ribbons and/or arm bands for families to use on lapels or dresses. This is easy identification for visitors.
23. HOTEL, CHURCH, CEMETERY DIRECTIONS - Provide a list of all hotels, church and cemetery directions for families.
24. DIRECTOR CHECK-UP - Require each funeral director to personally check up on each family several times during visitation.
25. F.D. REPLY - Have funeral directors reply to all “thank you” letters.
26. FRESHEN UP ROOM/NAP ROOM - Have a room in the funeral home where family members can change clothes, freshen up or even take a nap.
27. PARTNER DIRECTORS - Partner directors so that, after arrangements are made, the second person will not be a stranger. This is especially important with changing shifts.
28. BASEBALL CAPS AND T-SHIRTS - Give these to all funeral home employees. They’re great morale builders.
29. MEMORIAL BOOK - Put out a memorial book (mahogany) on a nice table in the foyer of the funeral home. All deceased people have their named engraved and beside the book is a candle that is always burning (eternal flame).
30. TELL YOUR STORY - Promote the funeral home at mall shows. This is a great way to give out information and offer water to mall walkers.
31. FALL COLOR TOUR - Meet at the funeral home and rent a bus to take people to see the fall tree colors. Furnish a light lunch.
32. CLERGY LIAISON - At each funeral, someone sits with the clergy and show them great attention. Then, periodically, ask if they would like to fill out a questionnaire.
33. OUT-OF-TOWN VISITOR PACK - Have a package of information available to families expecting out-of-town visitors. Include current maps, transportation/schedules, hotels, restaurants, etc.
34. HOTEL RESTAURANT DISCOUNTS - Make arrangements for your families to get a discount for food and lodging.
35. GUIDE TO SPECIALTY SERVICES - Have a readily-available guide for specially requested services, such as cleanup and disinfection, appraisal services for house contents and furnishings, referrals for real estate agents, videographer, home watch service, storage facilities, etc.
36. THE TOWN SCRAPBOOK - Use old pictures of the funeral home and local sights, some of construction home additions, as well as new pictures of the staff. Use this as an icebreaker and on tours and visits.
37. TRUST THE DRIVER - On the final evening of visitation, introduce the family, including a business card, to the driver who will be picking them up the next day. Have the driver ask any questions about directions, traffic, etc.
38. COMMUNITY EVENTS BOARD - Provide a board outside the funeral home for the community’s use.
39. COUNTRY FLAG - On a small stand, insert a flag of the deceased’s birthplace country beside the register stand. Give it to the family after the funeral.
40. GRAVEDIGGERS - At Christmas, send fruit baskets to all cemetery gravediggers. This shows appreciation.

Q. Tell us a little bit about yourself – where you grew up, family, etc.

I was born in Toledo, OH and was raised just outside of Columbus before returning to Toledo for college (Go Rockets!!). I’m incredibly fortunate to come from a supportive family of hard working parents and multiple siblings, of whom I am the first to graduate college. Throughout high school, I enjoyed participating in technical theatre. In college I was an active member of my beloved Panhellenic sorority, Delta Phi Epsilon, and a Resident Assistant in the dorms, where I worked full time post-graduation before attending CCMS. Nowadays, I enjoy reading, spending time outdoors and with my cats, and playing Dance Dance Revolution in arcades.

Q. Everyone who makes the decision to enter the death care profession has their own reasons for doing so. What led you to pursue this career?

Honestly, I’ve wanted to be a funeral director since around middle school or early high school. I come from a relatively large family and am fortunate to have had relationships with plenty of extended family members; my grandparents, great grandparents, great aunts and uncles etc. However, one caveat of this was attending plenty of funerals while growing up. While I don’t have any one service in particular that stands out, I do remember eventually thinking ‘Hey, I think I could really enjoy helping people in this way,’ and beginning to do more research into it. I tried to pursue other career paths after high school because I was incredibly intimidated by the science/embalming portion of the job, but I realized that I wasn’t going to be happy doing anything else.

Q. During your time at CCMS you have served as a class officer, sorority member and have volunteered for multiple school events. Can you talk a bit about those experiences?

Volunteering and being an active member of my community is very important to me. As funeral directors, I feel we are in a very privileged position to serve and be that person for those around us. Feeling this way and having this passion naturally led me to getting involved as class representative, a member of the school’s sorority, and with multiple school events.

I had so much fun with everything we did! Getting to plan events and having a positive impact made my time at the school more meaningful, and pushed me to be a better student. CCMS is a wealth of knowledge and history, and it was so exciting to share that with people at open houses, too. If we want to see the future of our profession thrive, it’s necessary to give back to it and give back to those who are starting their journey into it. I am very honored that I got to do that during my time at CCMS.

Q. You were the recipient of multiple scholarships, including one from the Ohio Funeral Directors Association. What impact has that had on your ability to attend CCMS and what advice would you give to other students who might be considering applying for scholarships?

It’s no secret that education is a huge expense. As a first generation college student, navigating the murky depths of tuition, loans, and financial aid while trying to find a place to work and live, and while trying to maintain my studies was intimidating. In fact, I delayed my original acceptance to CCMS in 2019 in order to work full time for a few years to better afford it. The scholarships that I earned lifted a massive weight off my shoulders. With this financial help, I was able to better focus on school and my own personal and professional development.

Regardless of the financial incentives, all of my scholarship applications and interviews were also excellent networking opportunities. I met so many incredibly kind and encouraging people in this profession this way, which also led to employment opportunities. I even bonded with fellow classmates as we discussed our applications. To anyone even thinking about applying for a scholarship: Please, go for it! There’s literally a dearth of applicants for free money! How insane is that? You never know what doors may open if you don’t put yourself out there.

Q. Attending college is often a life-altering experience. How do you think your time at CCMS has changed you (if at all)?

My time at CCMS certainly inspired a lot of confidence in myself. With no prior funeral home experience, there was that very small doubt that maybe this profession wasn’t for me; that I’d hate it, that I wouldn’t be able to pass my classes, or that I’d faint in the lab. All such doubts were washed away in the first few days on campus. Additionally, it is such a freeing feeling to be around people who get it. I think we can all admit that this profession is a bit of a curiosity, and even a bit taboo depending on with whom you’re speaking. Being surrounded by peers, staff, and faculty that understand you and your passions, and who want you to succeed, is almost cathartic. Though it feels like my time at CCMS was over in the blink of an eye, I am grateful for the lifelong friendships and bonds I made there.

Q. Now that you have graduated, what’s next?

I will be starting my one year apprenticeship back home in the Columbus area. After living away from home for so long, I am excited to spend time with my family—especially my niece and her soon-to-arrive little sister. After that, it’s hard to say what comes next! I am looking forward to starting my career, and hope to find a community to serve in which I can plant roots and grow personally and professionally.

In 2022, CCMS was thrilled to welcome Todd Van Beck as its new Director of Professional Education. Todd brings with him more than 50 years of experience in the death care profession. He is one of the most widely published authors in the field with 600 journal/magazine articles and 65 training manuals to his credit. Todd has been an active writer and speaker internationally for many decades covering most every topic that is relevant to our profession.

Growing up in Southwestern Iowa, Todd declared at the young age of 5 years old that he would become a funeral director when he grew up. “I am still growing up,” says Todd. “I am still learning, still trying to make some kind or worthy contribution to my beloved profession.” Todd has operated funeral homes, cemeteries and mortuary colleges. He has selflessly served the death care profession in many arenas across the nation, which satisfied his desire to see the world.

Todd was a member of the CCMS faculty in the 1980’s and says, “I am humbled to return to CCMS where I plan to continue my mission to serve.”

Be on the look-out for upcoming continuing education sessions. Todd’s presentations are many and varied and not to be missed! A list of currently scheduled sessions can be found on page 3 of this newsletter.

Dr. Jerome Webster to Continue as Dean of the College

In 2021, former CCMS Board member Dr. Jerome Webster graciously took on the role as Interim Dean of the College. Late in 2022, President and CEO Jack E. Lechner, Jr. announced that Dr. Webster would transition from Interim Dean to Dean of the College.

Before coming to CCMS, Dr. Webster served as president of Terra State Community College where he oversaw a realignment of curricular programs, focused on determining the distinctiveness of each academic program. Under his leadership, course completion rates improved to an all-time high of 91% in 2016. During his tenure, the College established four fully online degree programs; established the Fremont Early College with Fremont City Schools, and other similar partnerships; opened a new conference center and established a Veteran’s Center.

Dr. Webster received his Bachelor of Arts degree in business administration with a concentration in human resources from Olivet College in Michigan where he also served as a Residence Hall Director and Housing Coordinator. He received his Master and Doctoral degrees from the University of Toledo. Dr. Webster is also a certified funeral celebrant.

Pattee wins Newcomer Scholarship

Newcomer Funeral Service Group announced late last November that it had chosen CCMS student Kimberly Pattee as one of the recipients of its Tradition of Caring Mortuary Science Award. Kim was one of 14 mortuary science students chosen from more than 400 applicants from all across the country.

“We are truly honored to be able to give back to the future of our profession,” said Tyler Cummins, Scholarship Coordinator from Newcomer. Each year, Newcomer awards up $25,000 in scholarships to students who demonstrate, according to Cummins, “the core Newcomer values of excellence, trust, care and growth.” Kim certainly posses all those!

Congrats Kim!

Mental Health Resources Now Available for Students

CCMS is very pleased to provide a new mental health guide designed for college students. In addition to some valuable narratives, the guide contains lists of helpful resources including apps related to coping and scholarships for those with mental health diagnoses. It can be accessed via the Student Resources tab at the bottom of the CCMS website home screen. Under Student Resources, the first heading is Safety and the second is Student Counseling Services under which this guide appears.

https://www.ccms.edu/academics/student-resources/

We know that more college students are struggling than ever before. Although such a guide cannot replace professional mental health care when there is a need, it is our hope that some students derive benefit from resources or suggestions provided here.

Joe was a 1947 graduate of Athens High School, attended Ohio University and was a 1951 graduate of Cincinnati College of Embalming. He never knew a stranger and cherished spending time with family, friends, and anyone willing to strike up a conversation. In his younger years, he raced in motorcycle enduro "mud runs" winning numerous trophies, including the Jack Pine in Michigan. He also loved boating on Lake Cumberland, where he made many lifelong family friends. Another favorite pastime of Joe’s was collecting Athens High School yearbooks, organizing and attending AHS reunions.

Joe dedicated his life to the Athens community by comforting and caring for thousands of families through the Jagers and Sons Funeral Home for over 75 years, as well as the Richland Area Fire Department for over 63 years. The family business was more than just a career for Joe, it was his life. He truly adored each and every day spent “at the office” helping families and making new friends. He was a member of the National and Ohio Funeral Directors Associations.

Joe was a founding father and one of the first volunteers of the Richland Area Fire Department helping to equip them with their very first fire engine. He moved up the ranks, serving as chief from 1958-1970 and treasurer for more than 35 years.

Joe proudly served our country during the Korean War in the United States Army, as a medic, stationed in Japan, helping his brothers in need. Joe was also a proud servant in the Masons of Paramuthia Lodge #25 F&AM (70 year member), holding position of Worshipful Master in 1960 and served as Past District Deputy Grand Master of the 17th Masonic District. He was a member of Athens York Rite Bodies (65 year member Chapter, Council, Commandery), Kiwanis Club of Athens (60 years member and George F, Hixson Fellow), Athens Chapter 175 Order of the Eastern Star (65 year member), Aladdin Temple Shrine, Athens Co. Shrine Club, Amesville Grange 798, K.T. Crossen Post 21 American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He was also a Major on the Auxiliary Ohio State Highway Patrol for a number of years. Joe was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Athens and also enjoyed attending Genoa Baptist Church in Westerville, Ohio.

Ronald E. Troyer

Ronald (Ron) E. age 76 of Hudson, WI died peacefully on November 21, 2022 at United Hospital in St. Paul, MN. He was born on July 20, 1946 in Elkhart, IN the son of Kenneth and Gladys Irene (Monroe) Troyer. Ron grew up in Elkhart graduating from Elkhart High School in 1964. He attended the University of Minnesota graduating with Bachelor of Science Degree in 1968 and then a Master's in Education from Xavier University in Cincinnati, OH in 1979. Ron and his wife Jean were married on June 9, 1968 in the Hamline United Methodist Church, St. Paul and celebrated fifty-three years of marriage together. Ron and Jean loved spending time together at the Hudson Library and the Phipps Center for the Arts in Hudson.

He worked for many years in different parts of the funeral business, as both a funeral director and death educator. He also published many articles over the years in both books and trade journals on how funeral directors can best serve grieving families. In these articles he drew on his many years working with Compassionate Friends, Parents of Murdered Children, and Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS) support groups. Ron loved being a funeral director and supporting families during extremely difficult times.

Ron was an extremely active member at the Hudson YMCA. He enjoyed swimming in the pool (and sitting in the hot tub!) and the friendships it developed. Regularly talking with his “Y Friends” was an important part of his daily life. He deeply appreciated the friendship the YMCA Staff showed him after Jean died and how they regularly checked in on him right up until his death.

His desire was for Memorials given to honor his life be given to the Hudson Library, like they were for Jean. This way they will both be together for many years to come amongst all the books.

Charles Welch

“I have fought the good fight, I have finished the race, I have kept the faith.” 2 Timothy 4: 7 Charles Russell Welch, 70, was surrounded in love as he finished his race on Saturday, August 27, 2022 at his home in Crestline.

It is difficult to sum up one’s life in a few short sentences. Charlie’s life was so much more than a paragraph and a few funny stories. We want you to know him and let you understand what a great guy he was and is forever in our hearts. Our lives were better for having him in them, even if for just a short while.

The son of Frank M. and Ruth Ann (Tinkey) Welch, Charlie was born on April 12, 1952, in Mansfield and remained a lifelong area resident. A graduate of Ontario High School class of 1971, Charlie attended Bluffton University.

Charlie and Denise A. Gwinner were united in marriage on August 31, 1980. The memories that Charlie and Denise created throughout their marriage journey are now cherished treasures of the heart.

Charlie’s work history was long and varied. He drove truck for Roger Au Company, was a tool and die maker and Project Manager for Therm-O-Disc and Jay Industries, and raised, bred, trained, and showed Appaloosa and Quarter Horses. As a young man he worked on the family farm- some of his fondest memories happened on that farm. He loved the smell of fresh turned earth, freshly mowed hay, and the vibrant green of the wheat in the spring.

Charlie could tell a joke like no other! He would begin a story and have you wanting to believe it until he told you the punch line at the end. The smile on his face as he watched you realize you had just been taken was priceless followed by his uproarious laughter. Everyone loved hearing Charlie’s stories as much as he enjoyed sharing them.

A weekend at a horseshow was a weekend of hard work typically ending with a late-night campfire and a touch of humor. Charlie’s horses always did well in the ring and he encouraged his competitors with good natured teasing.

His circle of friends was large and varied- friends from his days at Ontario, college classmates, work, the horse business, and others he met on his journey through life. Charlie would greet you with a quick smile and genuine handshake always asking how life was treating you.

Charlie lived life as it came and enjoyed those people who shared it with him. His time with family and friends was priceless. Charlie supported and encouraged his family; he was their rock and gave so much of himself to them. He believed in letting people know he appreciated them. Keeping in touch with old friends, and making new, was his way of life.

Charlie accomplished much in his lifetime; but he would be the first to tell you that everything pales in comparison to his family. His family was his pride and joy and, especially during his last few months, they gave him great comfort and peace.

(Gwinner) Welch; children: Shane (Tara) Welch, Jodi (Mandi Whittalch) Welch, Cory (Rachel) Welch; grandchildren: Raegan, Ashtyn, Oliver, C.J., Hayleigh and Blaine; siblings: Ted (Brian Walters) Welch; Kathleen (Mike) Shaffer, David (Melody) Welch, Karen (Daryl) Slusher, and Carl Welch; many nieces and nephews; brothers-in-law: Terry Gwinner, Father David E. Gwinner, and Dwight Hawk; as well as other relatives and friends. Charlie was preceded in death by his parents: Frank and Ruth Welch; nephew: Gary Slusher; mother-in-law: Phyllis Gwinner; father-in-law: William Gwinner, sister-in-law: Cheryl Hawk; and maternal and paternal grandparents.

The family would like to express with grateful hearts a thank you to Hospice of North Central Ohio for the care shown to Charlie and his family. His journey home ended with grace, dignity, and peace.

Donating to CCMS

CCMS is unique in that it receives no state or federal funding, outside of the financial aid our students receive for tuition, for its operation. As a result, CCMS heavily relies on support from our alumni, private individuals, corporate partners and members of the Cincinnati Foundation for Mortuary Education. Such generous and continual support is in large part why we have remained successful for well over a century.
